

3rd Party Liability

WHY 3rd PARTY LIABILITY INSURANCE FOR DRIVERS

As drivers or team manager we mostly do not think about legal aspects on a race track.
Our goal is the next fast lap, a good next stint, winning the race!

But there is a new European policy from 2024 on, which is about your liability (roughly summarized):

It is mandatory to have a 3rd party liability insurance for your car if you are driving on a race track!

This liability cover has to provide minimum sums insured of:

7,5 Mio. EUR for personal injury, 1,3 Mio. EUR for property damage and 50.000 EUR for financial loss.

A technical failure, contact with an opponent, a failed glimpse into the mirror – you know all the things which can lead to an accident. Unfortunately, sometimes, accidents are more than a damaged car and now every driver is liable by European law for the claims he caused!

RELEVANT FACTS

The driver is responsible for all claims to a 3rd party- whether with his own or with a rented car.

Organizer or teams might have an insurance that includes you as a driver.

But are you able to check if it is a valid one? ➡ Expiry date, premium payment, insurance sums etc.

Even if everything is ok; what happens if the claim is higher than their sum insured? Your liability is unlimited by law! And there are a lot of things which can cause a payment:

- A mechanic is injured/disabled due to your brake failure – you have to pay
- A barrier is damaged after an accident – you have to pay
- A safety fence is damaged after an accident – you have to pay
- A spectator is injured/disabled due to your accident – you have to pay
- Another driver at the accident is injured/disabled – you have to pay
- Reject illegitimate claims – you have to pay the lawyer

We know that most of the things above are unlikely and fortunately very rare!

On the other hand – if it happens the resulting costs can be extremely high, worse case, ruin your life!

In these days, racing without a 3rd party liability is like racing without seatbelts...it doesn't make sense!
Tighten your budget and enjoy an even more relaxed winter racing season.
