Please note that we have used our best efforts to provide you with pricing and delivery estimates based on current conditions. However, due to the ongoing effects of the wars in Ukraine and between Israel and Gaza, as well as other regional conflicts, fluctuations in the transportation market, and broader changes in the international trade landscape—such as the recent adjustments to tariffs and trade policies in the United States—we reserve the right to revise pricing and delivery commitments as conditions evolve. This applies regardless of any other provisions contained herein or in any related documents.
